Course Description

This course is designed to familiarize students with an overview of the basic principles of lodging facilities, including: front office, sales and marketing, engineering, food and beverage, housekeeping, human resources, revenue management, and accounting.

Course Overview

Being hospitable has been defined as “the act of welcoming guests or strangers with warmth and generosity.” When you welcome someone as your guest, you are asking them to become “a recipient of hospitality at the home or table of another.” A guest may not be literally coming into your home or table, but as the frontline representative of the hospitality company that employs you, you are welcoming them with warmth and generosity to a temporary home in a hotel or to a table for a meal in a restaurant.

This course is designed to provide students with a managerial examination of a full-service lodging firm, including each major operating and support department. This course exposes students to the unique characteristics of managing and operating a service-based lodging product that is delivered by a diverse employee profile and received by an equally diverse consumer profile. The objective of the course is for the student to become familiar with the lodging industry and the current principles and management practices of lodging properties.

Course Objectives & Learning Outcomes

Please contact the Professor to arrange a time. Note: the exam could be slightly modified in the event of a make-up.

Academic Integrity

The integrity of a university depends upon academic honesty, which consists of independent learning and research. Academic dishonesty includes cheating and plagiarism. Cheating includes, but is not limited to, giving unauthorized help during an exam, obtaining unauthorized information about an exam before it is administered, using inappropriate sources of information during an exam, altering the record of any grade, altering an answer after an exam has been submitted, falsifying any official University record, and misrepresenting the facts in order to obtain exemptions from course requirements. The minimum penalty for cheating is an F for the course.

Academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Students should be sure that they understand the UF Student Honor Code at <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/students.php>. UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge, which states, "We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code." On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: "On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment."

Your quizzes and exams might be proctored by Honorlock.
