Course Description

Through this culminating experience, students will complete a professional paper derived from a real-world hospitality/tourism management industry-related issue. Examples of appropriate professional paper topics include, but are not limited to, developing a marketing plan for a hospitality/tourism organization, analyzing secondary data to address an issue for an HBM organization or the industry, and working with an organizational client to address a client-identified issue.

Course Learning Objectives

- Apply and develop a project scope based on the selected issue.
- Apply strategic decision-making principles, skills, and knowledge
- Evaluate and address areas of concern for formulating and implementing their recommended strategies.
- Apply and integrate their knowledge across courses. For example, students may incorporate management, marketing, human resources, and financial recommendations to address the selected issue.

The professional paper should be 30-50 pages in length and double-spaced with academic references (12-point font). Use of headers and subheaders is highly recommended. Use of tables and figures is also highly recommended and should be included within the page limit.

Students will work with their faculty advisor on the professional paper.

Helpful Tips

The professional paper should benefit the student's professional growth, as well as leadership and management abilities. Students are encouraged to start thinking about the topic of their professional paper by the completion of their first semester in the master's program.

Title Page.

A title should summarize the main idea of the project simply and if possible, with style. It should be a concise statement of the main topic and should identify and actual variables or theoretical issues under investigation and the relationship between them. An example of a good title is “Effect of Transformed Letters on Reading Speed.” A title should be fully explanatory when standing alone. Avoid words that serve no useful purpose: they increase length and can mislead indexers. For example, the words method and results do not normally appear in a title, nor should such redundancies as “A Study of” or “An Experimental Investigation of” begin a Title. Avoid using abbreviations in a title: spelling out all terms will help ensure accurate, complete indexing of the article. The recommended length for a title is 10 – to 12 words.

- ❖ Authors’ names and institutional affiliation
- ❖ The preferred form of an author’s name is first name, middle initial(s), and last name. The affiliation identifies the location where the authors conducted the investigation

Executive Summary [one up to 2 pages]

An executive summary is a brief/highlight, comprehensive summary of the contents of the report: it allows readers to survey the contents of an article/a project quickly. A well-prepared abstract can be the most important page(s) in your article/report.

Accurate: Ensure that the executive summary correctly reflects the purpose and content of the report/manuscript. Do not include information that does not appear in the body of the project.

Self-contained: define all abbreviations and acronyms.

Concise and specific: Make each sentence maximally informative, especially the lead sentence. Be as brief as possible. The executive summary should not exceed 2 pages.

An executive summary of a report of an empirical study should describe

- ❑ The problem under investigation, in one sentence if possible;
- ❑ The method (e.g., 27 Ps of Marketing Mix);
- ❑ The findings;
- ❑ The conclusions and the implications or applications.

Introduction

Introduce the purpose of this study. For example, the body of a paper opens with an introduction that presents the specific problem under study and describes the research strategy.

Develop the background. Discuss the literature, an overall and scholarly review of earlier work provides an appropriate history and recognizes the priority of the work of others (if applicable). Citation of and specify credit to relevant earlier works are part of the author's scientific and scholarly responsibility and are essential for the growth of a cumulative science. Demonstrate the logical continuity between previous and present work.

- ❖ Purpose of study

Method

The method section describes in detail how the study was formatted. [e.g., 27Ps of the Marketing Mix] Appropriate identification of research subjects and clientele is critical to the science, particularly for assessing the results.

Results

The results section summarizes the data collected and the statistical [if applicable]. Report the data in sufficient detail to justify the conclusions. Mention all relevant results. Summarizing the results and the analysis in tables or figures instead of text may be helpful. When you use tables or figures, be certain to mention all of them in the text.

Conclusions/Discussion

After presenting the results, you are in a position to evaluate and interpret their implications. You are free to examine, interpret, and qualify the results, as well as to draw inferences from them. Similarities and differences between your results and the work of others should clarify and confirm your conclusions. You are encouraged, when appropriate and justified, to end the Discussion section with commentary on the importance of your findings. This concluding section may be brief or extensive, provided that it is tightly reasoned and self-contained.

References

Just as data in the paper support interpretations and conclusions, so reference citations document statements made about the literature. All citations in the report must appear in the reference list, and all references must be cited in text.

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY POLICIES:

Students should be aware that online learning is different than a traditional classroom experience and can present unique challenges, particularly to individuals who do not possess good time management skills. The online classroom is available to you 24 hours a day. Unlike traditional instructional settings in which each student gets the same class at a set time and day, the online setting gives students the opportunity to tailor class to their particular learning style. You should note, however, that this course is not completely self-paced. Please note that all assignments, must be completed and submitted by the due date listed on the syllabus. Since we will not have in-class meeting times for me to remind you of critical dates, it is essential to familiarize yourself with the course schedule, deadlines, and due dates.

Make Up Policy:

Assignments will not be accepted late, and on some days more than one of these tasks may be due. If personal circumstances arise that may interfere with your ability to meet a deadline, please let me know as soon as possible before the due date. Please keep in mind only university authorized excuses will be accepted, and documentation must be provided. Requirements for make-up exams, assignments, and other work are consistent with university policies: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>

Communication and Questions:

Students are responsible for getting a University of Florida email account (e.g., john.doe@ufl.edu) and should use this email for all university related correspondence – The instructor may not read emails from or send emails to any non-UF email addresses (e.g., john.doe@hotmail.com). Email subject should start with “LEI 6931 Professional Paper – First name, Last name - ...” Email use does not relieve students from the responsibility of confirming the communication with the instructor. Always sign your email – don't make the instructor guess from whom the email was sent. The instructor will answer your email within two business days, when possible.

You may email me through the course site with any questions or concerns you have, and I will attempt to respond to your emails within 48 hours (typically sooner). If you have an urgent issue, please call my office and/or email my personal UF email, <racheljuichifu@ufl.edu>.
